Rear-Admiral Henry F. Pickens, brother of Mrs. John C. Wright, of Bedford, died suddenly at the Charleston navy yard, Boston, early Friday morning. Death was due to heart disease. Rear-Admiral Pickens was native of Somerset. He entered the naval academy in 1857 and in June, 1861, received his commission as acting master. During the first two years of the civil war he was attached to the frigate St. Lawrence and after taking part in the sinking of the privateer Petrel was present at the engagement with the Confederate ram Merrimack and the Seveville Point batteries. In 1864 he was assigned to the ironclad Nahant, becoming her commander a year later. From 1865 to 1868 Commander Pickens was in Western India and European waters. After tours of duty at League Island and Annapolis he served for three years on the Colorado, flagship of the Asiatic fleet. Upon his return he was assigned to ordnance duty and was promoted to commander while attached to the New York naval rendezvous in 1875. From 1887 till 1889 he was senior officer of the naval forces on the lakes. In 1894 Captain Pickens received special honor from the public as commander of the South Atlantic squadron during the troubles at Rio. The skill with which he managed affairs gained for him the thanks of the secretary of the navy, personally given. When Captain Pickens was released from the command of the South Atlantic squadron he was sent to Boston to take charge of the Wabash. In 1895 he received the rank of commodore by succession. Last November he was placed on waiting orders, following which he was made a rear-admiral and placed in command of the Charleston navy yard. He was fifty-nine years old.

CAPITAL CITY COMMENT.

The Attack Upon Vice-Chairman Phillips—Senator Stewart's Opinion of France—Two Negro Regiments Enlisted.

Special correspondence of THE GAZETTE.
WASHINGTON, September 12.—The administration appears to be still determined to leave General Otis in supreme command in the Philippines, although Secretary Root is understood to have recommended a change and to favor sending General Miles over there.

There is politics in this determination, and it isn't the sort of politics that reflects any credit upon Mr. McKinley. The Hanna crowd are afraid of Miles now and if he should go to the Philippines and do what Otis has so signally failed to do they would fear him still more. They know that Otis is not a politician, but a man of high character, and they are afraid of him. They are afraid of him because they know that he is a man of high character, and they are afraid of him because they know that he is a man of high character.

They are afraid of him because they know that he is a man of high character, and they are afraid of him because they know that he is a man of high character. ### A Free Dinner.

FRIENDS' COVE, September 12.—One of the greatest social events that was ever witnessed in Friends' Cove took place last Saturday evening, September 9, at the splendid house of William England.

The dinner was intended purposely for all the men who helped to build his house last summer, but Mr. England, who is always a very kind-hearted man, invited many of his relatives and friends and all his neighbors. The architect who built this magnificent house was William Dibert, of Lintown. The house is one of the finest in Friends' Cove, the style of architecture is modern, the roof slate and all other parts in harmony.

This house speaks for itself. The dinner was a success. The architect who built this magnificent house was William Dibert, of Lintown. The house is one of the finest in Friends' Cove, the style of architecture is modern, the roof slate and all other parts in harmony.
